Vince & Associates Clinical Research taps Rhycom for web development and corporate identity

(Overland Park, KS)—Rhycom, a full service, strategic communications agency, has added Vince & Associates Clinical Research (VACR) to its roster of healthcare clients. VACR chose Rhycom for corporate identity and website development. VACR's website targets two audiences, pharmaceutical companies that sponsor clinical trials and patients who seek to participate in clinical trials. "We are excited to have the opportunity to work with Vince & Associates. They are very well known in the clinical trial space locally and nationally and a great fit with our current healthcare clients," stated Rick Rhyner, President of Rhycom. "The project gives us an opportunity to develop a web platform that will help VACR recruit patients for trials as well as enhance their positioning toward sponsors. We welcome VACR and look forward to a creative partnership."

About Vince and Associates Clinical Research
